

About Darth Vader

Complete hegemonic domination: I get things done just by thinking about them.

With undeniable presence and a penchant for leadership and galactic authority, I am the right-hand man of The Emperor and the most powerful Sith Lord to ever exist. I control the dark side of The Force - "you do not know the power of the dark side."

I can create as easily as I can destroy, and have a perfect record for completing all projects I take on. Some of my most noteworthy accomplishments include: the breaking up and scattering of The Jedi, destroying Obi Wan Kenobi, and acting as Project Manager of the Death Star - which was finished on time and on budget resulting in the destruction of Alderaan (months before analyst's forecasts and predictions, causing stock-levels to soar on all the major galaxy markets).

I am an early riser with an acute awareness of every time-zone on every planet in the solar system; which has played a key part in the complete abolishment of some of these planets. As a father of twins who nonchalantly married into royalty, I hold a crushing and authoritative power which has allowed me to access some of my finer talents including writing dark poetry, studying advanced Kenjutsu, and mastering the art of using a light sabre.

My tests reveal a higher than average concentration of Midi-Chlorians - which has been at the core of the success of my career life. I am driven, ambitious and an unstoppable leader. People follow me. (Or they die.)